ORGANIZE! WHAT THE ARTISTS' UNION & THE AMERICAN ARTISTS' CONGRESS CAN TEACH US TODAY

Nicolas Lampert (Justseeds' Artists Cooperative) will provide an overview of the Artists' Union and the American Artists' Congress, two of the leading voices for radical artists in the 1930s that responded to the Great Depression and the rise of fascism with collective action and aligning themselves with working class movements. The talk will segue to an open discussion about how artists today are addressing the present-day economic crisis.

ART WORK

A NATIONAL CONVERSATION ABOUT
ART, LABOR, AND ECONOMICS

Art Work is a newspaper and website (www.artandwork.us) organized by Temporary Services. It includes writing and images from artists, activists, writers, critics, and others about working within depressed economies and the impact felt on artistic process, compensation, and sustainability. This independently published, 40-page newspaper is distributed throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. The exhibition at Gallery 400 features a project display, documentation, and free copies of the newspaper.
